DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 6/14/05 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Walker (US. 4,150,836).

Walker discloses a seal assembly comprising a body (16) adapted to contain internal pressure (pressure in body 16) having an opening with inwardly tapered peripheral sidewall (tapered wall where seal 24 contacts). A closure (10) adapted to close the opening, the closure having an attachment portion larger than the opening (this is the case since the opening is closed by the closure having 14) and an axially projecting stopper (portion having wall 20) having an endless peripheral seal groove (groove having 24 and 42) extending in spaced relation around the axis in which is positioned a peripheral seal (24) that engages the tapered peripheral sidewall of the body in interference fit relation, thereby conforming to the tapered peripheral sidewall (the seal 24 conforms to the tapered sidewall).

A backing ring (42) of pliable memory retaining material sheltered from internal pressure within the body by the peripheral seal and positioned between the peripheral seal groove and the attachment portion of the closure. The backing ring engaging the tapered peripheral sidewall of the body in interference fit relation and conforming to the tapered peripheral sidewall while being sufficiently stiff as to resist extrusion flow under pressure (this is the case since 42 is an anti-extrusion ring and engages the tapered peripheral sidewall), such that when the peripheral seal deforms (intended use but as seen in figure 4 the seal deforms) in response to an increase in internal pressure within the body and extrusion gaps begin to form between the attachment portion of the closure and the body (intended use, but the pressure that flow between the member 16 and 14 will also deform the seal), the peripheral seal is extruded against the backing ring (the seal is extruded against the backing ring 42), that portion of the backing ring engaging the tapered peripheral side wall of the body plastically deforming by changing shape (the backing ring 42 changes shape) and applying sealing pressure (method limitation given no patentable weight in an apparatus claim, but the backing ring provides a secondary seal) at the extrusion gap to prevent the peripheral seal from entering the extrusion gaps (as demonstrated in figures 3a-3b).

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
